

Rules:

All policies are enforced in two phases:
In the first phase, all policies are evaluated and all access controls that aren't satisfied are collected.
In the second phase, you are prompted to satisfy the requirements you haven't met.
If one of the policies blocks access, you are blocked and not prompted to satisfy other policy controls. If none of the policies blocks you, you are prompted to satisfy either one or all selected policy controls. (see picture on the right)

External MFA providers and terms of use come next. All assignments are logically ANDed. If you have more than one assignment configured, all assignments must be satisfied to trigger a policy.

Block access thumps all other configuration settings
